FIRST DAY'S RESULTS—STATE OF PARTIES

LABOURITES SUSTAIN HEAVY REVERSES

MANY PROMINENT LABOUR LEADERS DEFEATED

LARGE CONSERVATIVE GAINS

BIRMINGHAM, MANCHESTER AND LIVERPOOL NOW CONSERVATIVE SOLID.

London, Yesterday.

Polling closed in a fog which caused the loss of a number of votes. Many homeward bound workers were delayed until after the polling booths had closed; other would-be voters failed to find the polling booth in time to vote; while a few electors declined to leave their comfortable firesides to turn out in the fog.

In spite of the murkiness, large crowds awaited the results in Trafalgar Square and other vantage points, but the numbers were not so great as on previous elections, owing to cinemas and theatres keeping open to announce the results.

While crowds in the streets cheer the results to-night, the King, who has returned specially from Sandringham, will hear the results in Buckingham Palace by tape machine, telegraph, and wireless till a late hour.

The swing in favour of Conservatives, increased majorities, continue to be a feature of the polling. Their gains from Labour include Accrington, Stockton-on-Tees, and Farnworth (Lancashire) with majorities of 12,622 11,031 and 2,907 respectively.

Mr. Arthur Henderson, was defeated at Burnley by Rear-Admiral Campbell, V.C., National Independent.

Rear Admiral Campbell is of "Mystery Q" ship fame. He adopted the slogan "Give Politics a Kick in the Pants."

The veteran transport worker (Labourite) Sir James Sexton was knocked out at St. Helens by the Conservative, Spencer, with a majority of 2,430, as compared with the Labour majority of 8,105 at the last election.

Miss Ellen Wilkinson was defeated in Middlesbrough East.

The Labourite, Mr. Logan, retained Liverpool (Scotland). This is the first contest there for twenty-one years, owing to Mr. T. P. O'Connor always having been returned unopposed.

Mr. Herbert Morrison, ex-Minister for Transport (Labour), has been defeated by Miss Graves at Hackney (South).

Mr. Tom Shaw, ex-Minister for War (Labour) has been defeated at Preston.

Mr. Arthur Greenwood, ex-Minister of Health in the Labour Government has been defeated at Nelson and Colne.

Mr. Edgar Wallace, the novelist (Liberal) has been defeated at Blackpool.

Eleven Liverpool divisions, previously 6 Conservatives and 5 Labour, are now 10 Conservatives and 1 Labour.

Sir R. S. Cripps, who was a conspicuous success in the Labour Government as Solicitor-General has retained Bristol (East) against the Conservative candidate.

At Plymouth Drake Mr. F. E. Guest (Conservative) gained the seat from Mr. J. J. Moses (Labour), who conducted his campaign from a hospital bed.

Sheffield's seven divisions have also gone Conservative solid as compared with 2 Conservatives and 5 Labour previously.

Birmingham's twelve divisions and Manchester's ten have gone solid Conservative.—Reuter.

Rugby, Yesterday.

Polling took place to-day in 548 constituencies. Reports from all parts indicate a considerably heavier poll than recorded in General Elections of recent years.

In the majority of the divisions the votes will not be counted till to-morrow, but 215 results are expected to be declared between 10 p.m. and 4 a.m.

Before the results of to-day's polling were declared the state of the Parties by uncontested returns and election for the University of Wales announced yesterday was:

Conservatives	49
Liberal National	7
Liberal	6
Labour	6

Thus giving the National Government 62 supporters and the Opposition party 6.

At the dissolution of Parliament the strength of the Parties was:

Conservatives	263
Labour	265
Liberal	53
National Labour	15
Independents	14

NEWS TABLOIDS.

In what is known as the Kowloon Slander Case, Mr. Justice R. E. Lindsell found for plaintiff (Mrs. R. I. Remedios) and awarded her $100 damages and costs against Miss Gertrude Stavelly, Airline Hotel, Kowloon.

Three refractory soldiers—Privates in the South Wales Borderers—were severely dealt with by Mr. Schofield this morning. In reply to the Magistrate one said, "There is nothing like enjoying yourself," and another, "I like plenty of excitement."

There are said to be 1,000 unlicensed wireless sets in the Colony, and the Post Master-General's Department offers a reward of $10 for information leading to discovery. This was stated in Court to-day when a Chinese was fined $30 for an offence in this respect.

The quartermaster of the s.s. Tjisadane is reported to have been lost at sea. He is believed to have been washed overboard.

Sterling rate on New York Exchange has fallen to 3.87, as a result of heavy selling. This is attributed to Britain's recent repayment of the major portion of the August loan, which is believed to have been taken for "window dressing" purposes.

A further drop in Unemployed figures is recorded. On October 19 the total on the registers was 2,737,000.

A.R.A.F. long-distance Monoplane is now engaged on a non-stop flight of nearly 3,000 miles to Egypt.

It is believed Germany is seriously considering the calling of an International Reparations Conference at an early date.

The Hamilton brothers, on their flight from England to Australia, have been forced down in Lower Austria. They are uninjured.

M. Laval is on his way back to France. The Evening Post, commenting on the "talks," says, "France will receive more gains than America."

All is now reported quiet in Cyprus. The Bishop of Kyrenia, a lawyer, and two Communists have been arrested.

The Morning Post comments on the large shipments of gold from India to England. It says these shipments are not on account of the Government. Indians, apparently, are buying silver with their hoarded stocks of gold. If purchases continue, they may have the effect of raising the price of silver.

"WOMEN OF ALL NATIONS."

When you are led to expect much from a picture and then find, when you see the picture, that it reveals many times what you had expected, then that picture must be a mighty fine one.

Raoul Walsh's Fox production, "Women of All Nations," which is now showing at the King's Theatre, yesterday proved a mighty fine entertainment.

Its chief fun makers are the lovable characters "Flatt" and "Quirt," as portrayed by Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe, aided and abetted by the bungling dumb Swede marine, "Olsen," as played by El Brendel, and glorified by the loveliness, grace and charm of Greta Nissen, the most beautiful natural blonde of stage or screen.

"MEXICALI ROSE."

The amazing results studio technicians achieve within a limited time are nothing short of miraculous. For instance, during the shooting of "Mexicali Rose," the Columbia all-talking drama of love and revenge with Barbara Stanwyck and Sam Hardy coming to the Central Theatre to-morrow, a complete gambling dive was created overnight.

An hour later Director Eric C. Kenlon had done his part by supplying the human element. The resort was peopled with as heterogeneous and colourful a collection of personalities as ever graced a resort on the Mexican border.

"THE MELODY MAN."

Picture audiences, absorbed in the action of a story and in the personalities of players, rarely speculate on the amount of time, labour and expense involved in making the background of scenes—"sets"—so perfect that they attract no attention in themselves.

Before plans were formulated for sets of "The Melody Man," the Columbia all-talking musical drama coming to the Central Theatre to-morrow, the research department spent some time going through the files for suitable models of old New York flats and the Austrian Court.

"THE BAD ONE."

Edmund Lowe, who plays the tough, swaggering Brooklyn sailor in United Artists' "The Bad One," starring Dolores Del Rio in her first all-talking picture at the Queen's Theatre, is now the dubious possessor of an Atlantic sailor's patois.

"The Bad One" shows Miss Del Rio as a tempestuous and flirtatious entertainer of the Marselleses, waterfront cafes. She avoids men, but then the Brooklyn sailor comes along.

"THE CONQUERING HORDE."

His ability to play cricket was the stepping stone to success for Ian MacLaren, the actor who plays the roles of the villainous State Treasurer in "The Conquering Horde," the feature picture at the King's Theatre to-morrow.

Having failed in a mining venture in his native England, MacLaren received a great deal of publicity as a cricket and football player. George Arliss recognized him from a photograph in a newspaper and offered him a part in a new play on the condition that he was to work six weeks without pay, while his drawing power was tested. MacLaren agreed, after several successful seasons in London, he went to the United States. Here he was cast in a part in a production of "Much Ado About Nothing."

William Randolph Hearst, publisher and film producer, witnessed his performance and offered him a screen part. MacLaren accepted.

"DISRAELI."

"I think Disraeli will find much favour with the public and greatly increase the prestige of pictures because it represents the finest traditions of literary craftsmanship," says George Arliss, veteran stage star who plays the title role of this Warner Brothers picture which is coming to the Queen's Theatre to-morrow.

"The literary quality and the dramatic construction of 'Disraeli' are excellent," says Arliss. "It is a solid, substantial, and tensely dramatic play, and there is a good love story."

"THE SMILING LIEUTENANT."

Writing to the Film News, a reader says:—
Having seen "The Smiling Lieutenant" at the Carlton, this is exactly what I should like to do—

Congratulate Maurice and thank him for his charming, clever and delightful performance. He is a sheer joy to watch. Anyone else might have made Niki seem rather a heartless creature, but Maurice—well, it is humanly possible to resist those twinkling eyes or that marvellous smile!

Tell Claudette Colbert how much we liked her clever characterisation of Franz.

Similarly congratulate Miriam Hopkins. She makes the difficult part of Princess Anna most refreshing to watch.

EXECUTION BY POISON GAS.

Carson City (Nevada).

A "humane" execution by means of poison gas was witnessed by eighty people peering through glass windows into a hermetically sealed lethal chamber.

They saw a murderer, smiling and grinning, in an effort to hold his breath and live as long as possible, and it was not until 14 min. 5 sec. after the poison gas had been released that the two physicians pronounced the man dead.

The man executed was Louis Cejas, a Mexican, aged 27, who had been found guilty of killing a Chinese, Charlie Fong, in a quarrel over a red-haired girl, who claimed that she was a German Countess. He expiated his crime by the method which officials of the State of Nevada claim is the "most humane method of execution in the world."

Prussic Acid.

The gas that is used in these cases is hydrocyanic gas (prussic acid), a single inhalation of which will cause instant unconsciousness, if not death. The method of administration is as follows:

The man is taken into the airtight chamber, and when all preparations are complete and the moment arrives, fifteen cyanide "eggs" are dropped into a bucket which contains a solution of water and hydrochloric acid, which is placed beside the man. Life lasts as long as he holds his breath.

His last request to the prison warders was for "a bottle of whisky and then a bottle of tomato juice on which to sober up." The prison officials refused to say if they granted his request.

Unseen Niceties—

Assurance of Matchless Performance

Watchful corporations tell how Lifetime desk fountain pens pay quick dividends in saved pens and ink, better, faster work, reduced effort. Sheaffers excel not alone in styling but in mechanical merit. They are supreme, mechanically; their marvelous performance is designed in. The pens come lightly and naturally to hand from Sheaffer's ingenious universal receptacles. Nothing grips or hinders them—they are always served you at the correct writing angle, never from random angles—and they air-seal themselves within the receptacle, keeping tips moist for instant use. Gracious pens in settings of splendor! Qualities you'll prize for a Lifetime. Compare thoughtfully; you'll choose Sheaffers.

At better stores everywhere
All Sheaffer products are definitely guaranteed against defects in material and workmanship.

Y.M.C.A. DEFEAT THE RECREIO.

McLellan Success at Centre-Forward.

FATAL HESITANCY.

On their own ground at King's Park yesterday the Y.M.C.A. first eleven defeated the Club de Recreio by two goals to nil in a game which was fast, thorough but which lacked the finer points of the game. The Y.M.C.A., who were playing without E. O. Murphy and F. Selk, were full value for their victory. D. McLellan opened the scoring late in the first half when he beat two players for possession and 'acquired' the ball into the net. After the interval McLellan again scored, this time as the result of a full-blooded drive from Price's corner hit. He was certainly a success at centre forward.

The Recreio, who fielded ten men in the opening half, borrowed J. Gilchrist, of the Radio Sports Club, in the second half. Very stout in defence the Recreio backs had one big failing—that of attempting too much first-time hitting. Time and again one of the opposing forwards would break through as the result of this continual mis-hitting. The backs, however, covered one another very successfully and though the mauling forward would pierce the first line of defence he would unconsciously play into the hands of the second line. A. R. R. Botelho was prominent throughout the game. He held up repeated attacks by well-timed hitting.

The Y.M.C.A. backs have not yet got over the difficulty of clearing their lines immediately when under pressure. The tendency to let the other fellow hit the ball has not yet been checked and consequently some very dangerous situations have arisen. When two players hesitate as to who is to hit the ball it is the easiest thing in the world for an opposing forward to nip in and relieve both players of the responsibility. Once this weakness is rectified the Y.M.C.A. should prove an uncommonly well-balanced combination.

LADY CHAMPIONS DEFEATED.

Hong Kong Ladies' Lose to the R.A.O.C.

MRS. JONES IMPRESSES.

At Sookunpoo yesterday the Hong Kong Ladies' Hockey Club, last year's champions in the Caer Clark Cup League, met a strong team from the Royal Army Ordnance Corps and went down by three goals to one.

It was a very good game and showed that the champions have lost none of the keenness which was largely responsible for their success last season. All the players showed good form. Mrs. Jones, who was making her first appearance of the season, giving a very impressive display on the right wing.

MAN AND ATHLETE

Eric Liddell.

The wish is father to the thought in the minds of all interested in athletics that E. H. Liddell will be able next Summer to repeat his performances of 1924. It is, however, hardly to be expected that at 31 years of age, and after an interval of eight years, even although Liddell has been keeping up his running, he will be able to again "beat even." But of this we may be sure, he will still retain all those qualities which made him a first-class sportsman and a gentleman, and a pattern for other athletes to copy.

Probably we never saw the best of him on the track. Had he remained in this country another year he would in all likelihood have improved on some of his times. His best performance over 100 yards was in winning the British championship at Stamford Bridge in 1923 in 9.7-10 seconds, time which still remains the best ever done at an A.A.A. championship meeting. It was 3-10 seconds faster than he had ever accomplished in Scotland. He also won the 220 yards championship on the same day, and was awarded the Harvey Memorial Cup as the best champion of the year.

The Olympic Games were due the following year and the usual discussions went on as to the way to find the best men to go to Paris, and, incidentally, the best way to raise the necessary funds. Liddell was hailed by the Press in the south as a certain winner of the 100 metres race, and as an example to other aspirants for places in the team.

In due course, a provisional programme of the Olympic Games was issued, and it was found that the heats of the 100 metres race were to be run on a Sunday. It was then the public learned the type of man Liddell was. When informed of the arrangement, Liddell simply said he would not run on a Sunday. It may have been assumed by some that any objections he had to running on that day would be overcome by persuasion, particularly if he were approached by the right people. But no greater mistake could have been made. When it was suggested to Liddell that the Continental Sunday finished at midday, he replied that "his Sunday lasted all day."

Efforts were then made by the British Olympic Council to persuade the Olympic Committee in Paris to change the day for the 100 metres heats, but they were of no avail, and Liddell's services were therefore lost to Britain in that particular event. On one Sunday in Paris during the games Liddell preached in the Scottish Presbyterian Church.

Olympic Winner.
Liddell competed in and won the 400 metres race in 47.8-5 secs., which is still record time for the Olympic Games. He rose to the occasion, and beat all his previous performances.

During the games there was some controversy over a decision in one of the field events. It was even suggested in the papers that Britain would withdraw from the games in future if the decision were not reversed. When Liddell was approached for his opinion, he said that could not possibly be as a sportsman accepted the decision of the judge no matter what it might be. One might be certain that Liddell would never question a decision.

C. A. L. RUMJAHN WINS IN TIENTSIN.

Convincing Victory Over M. Ferber.

SPECTACULAR TENNIS.

Tientsin, October 19.
Two champions met yesterday afternoon in the closing exhibition matches of the season when the Hong Kong title-holder, C. A. L. Rumjahn, defeated the local champion, M. Ferber, in three straight sets 6-2; 6-2; 6-3. Rumjahn showed great improvement over his first appearances and played a spectacular game. Ferber also played a good game but he was out-classed by the Hong Kong champion.

After 3-2 was called in the first set, Rumjahn ran away with it, taking it at 6-2. This was repeated in the second set, and the third set very nearly witnessed the same thing, the only change coming when the standing was 5-2. Ferber, playing a fine game, decreased the lead to 5-3 by taking the eighth game, although Rumjahn was within set point.

Rumjahn then played one set with S. H. Wu and beat him 6-1.

LAWN BOWLS.

By defeating J. C. West in the semi-final of the Open Lawn Bowls Championship yesterday on the Craigengower C.C. green, J. Laing now enters the final round of the competition, and will be called upon to meet either Omar or Drummond, who play off their semi-final game to-day.

When Liddell returned from Paris, he was warmly congratulated in all directions, but all the feting simply showed up the man and not the athlete. His fellow students were the first to honour him, crowning him with olives at the Graduation Ceremony, when he received his B.Sc. degree. He was next entertained to dinner by over 100 local churchmen, presided over by Lord Sands, when he was warmly praised for his devotion to principle as a reverent upholder of the Christian Sabbath. That gathering was more interested in Liddell as a man than as an athlete. Liddell told the story on that occasion of how he was nearly named Henry Eric, in place of Eric Henry, and how he narrowly missed having the rather awkward initials H. E. L.

Liddell was the following week entertained to luncheon by the Lord Provost and Town Council of Edinburgh, along with a company representing "Intellectual and physical culture and other interests of the city." He was presented with a gold watch and chain as a souvenir by Lord Provost Sir William Sleight. One of the most thrilling races run by Liddell was in the International at Stoke-on-Trent in 1923, in the 440 yards event. He had only taken three strides when he was crashed into and knocked off the track. Recovering, with a surprised look on his face, he found himself 20 yards behind, and in a seemingly hopeless position. But he was not beaten. He set off in pursuit and, running probably as fast as he ever ran, won the race. He had previously won the 100 and 200 yards races.

When Liddell returns he will miss a wise counsellor and ardent admirer in the late D. S. Duncan. There was no man more interested in his performances. Liddell, however, will not lack supporters.

The following will represent the Radio Sports Club in their hockey match against the H.K.S.R.A. on the Marina ground at 5 p.m. to-day:—

A. Spary; A. E. P. Guest, Parduman Singh; Karnail Singh, Atma Singh, K. Mohammed; M. Hanib, Surjin Singh, Gurbachan Singh, Kalwant Singh, and F. A. Kemp.

Reserves: Attila Singh and J. Singh.

Referee: J. T. K. Gilchrist.

The first round of the Navy Cup competition will be decided on the Polo ground, Causeway Bay, this afternoon when teams representing the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders and the Royal Artillery will oppose each other in what promises to be a good game.

The teams for to-day's game will be:—

The Argylls start off with a sixteen handicap against the Gunners' eleven.

The Hong Kong University Cricket Club second eleven will meet Queen's College to-day at 2 p.m. at the Pavilion, Pokfulam Road.

The following will represent the Varsity team:—

P. L. Tan (captain), A. A. Aziz, A. C. Braine-Hartnell, W. K. Choa, C. E. R. Clarabut, M. A. Cooper, D. Hunt, A. S. A. Kyum, R. E. G. Leong, H. Nomanbhoy, and M. M. Yayabhooy.

LITTLE NEW TALENT.

At King's Park yesterday the K.B.S.F.P.A. Ladies' defeated the Recreio Ladies' by a goal to nil.

In the first half the K.B.S. were definitely the superior side and it came as no surprise when M. Martin opened the scoring with a hard drive from a melee in the Recreio goal-mouth. In the second half the K.B.S., however, seemed to be resting on their laurels and the Recreio came very near to scoring on one or two occasions. The Recreio right wing caused the opposing defence many anxious moments with her speed down the wing and her accurate shooting into the centre.

O. Griffiths, who was making her debut for the K.B.S.F.P.A., was not very impressive at inside left and looked as if her place was in the defence and not the attack. G. Macnider, who generally plays in the forward line, was tried out in the half-back line, but the unaccustomed position did not suit her very well. M. Martin was the choice of a weak forward line and was ably supported by M. Groundwater.

Election Frenzy.

With a traditional air of detachment from Home politics we in this Colony will probably not be able to weigh judiciously the vital issues before the electorate. All Parties have had resort to window dressing. An Admiral has seized on the emotions of the people by a belated reference to the men who died for Britain in France, calling on them to continue the work by voting for the Nationalist Government, forgetful of the fact that there are thousands of war heroes and their dependants who have been neglected by successive Governments since the Armistice. At any rate, platform oratory seems to be sufficient to put an audience of old women into hysterics, make them sob and sing "Land of Hope and Glory," kiss the dramatic Admiral, and carry him out of the hall in triumph! Little wonder that the Admiral, who once shrieked to "kick politics in the pants," was successful at the poll and defeated Mr. Arthur Henderson. What Burnley said yesterday the rest of the country has said also. But is it altogether satisfying to the millions of Britons overseas who have neither vote nor say in the composition of the British Parliament? No Party has ever succeeded to power on the wave of temporary emotion and Kent's election promises. Liberal, Conservative, and Labour have all had their landslides, but in the country, is the Empire, one whit better for all the hot air generated during an electoral campaign? "A curse on politics" has been the exclamation of numerous leading men of the country for decades, but their voice is heard not. And even men like Admiral Campbell plunge into the maelstrom of politics and sway the voters by pandering to sloppy sentiment, instead of sound common sense. No sooner will the new Parliament be elected than all the election hysteria will be forgotten. The Cabinet with a working majority will do as it pleases until it in turn is called upon to give an account of its stewardship. A weird game, indeed, is that of politics!

One consoling thought is paramount, however, over all others. The British electorate, after their passions have been cooled, will be fair minded enough to give the new Government—even a Nationalist Government—a sporting chance to make good. The acid test will be reflected in the state of the National Exchequer, in the Board of Trade returns, and in the degree of taxation of the people. That test few Governments within recent decades have stood successfully. Will the new National Government fare any better?

News in Brief.

Yesterday's lowest open air temperature was 64. The humidity was 40 at 10 a.m. and 52 at 4 p.m.

Captain A. J. N. Woods, of the s.s. Venezia, was today fined $50 or three weeks' hard labour in default for passing inshore of the buoy off Queen Victoria Street, on October 25.

The body of Ng Pui, 23, a shop faki employed at No. 95, Queen's Road West, was found hanging from a beam. The body was removed to the mortuary. Suicide is suspected.

An interesting talk on his native State of Oregon, U.S.A., was given by Mr. R. A. Pfaff, of the University of Oregon debating team, in the Kowloon Union Church Hall last evening, under the auspices of the Young People's Society. The talk was illustrated with a number of coloured lantern slides showing timber, wheat, fruit, and other products of Oregon. Altogether a vivid impression was given to the audience of the attractive features of the State. A collection was taken for the funds of the Young People's Society.

Mr. R. A. Pfaff, of the University of Oregon debating team was the speaker at the weekly talk of the Rotary Club yesterday. Mr. Pfaff's subject was "America in the New Age," and in the course of his talk he referred to the present as the machinery age, and dealt with its effect on the world conditions. He also presented a picture of Americans and urged that any tourists people met be judged by counter-parts from their own country. The necessity of co-operation, fellowship, and mutual understanding of one another's problems in world affairs, particularly in the Pacific Basin, was also emphasised.

Four months' imprisonment was imposed on Chan Sing Chun, for having possession of literature of an inciting nature, published by the Young Men's Association of United Patriots at Johnston Road.

Four Chinese were arrested yesterday by Sub-Inspector Rozesky and P.S. Kennedy at 156 and 158 Johnston Road. The men were said to be armed with daggers and axes. It is suspected that they were about to commit an armed robbery.

Personal Pars.

The forthcoming weddings are announced of Alfred Ashton Lewis, engineer, 1, Yue Kwong Terrace, and Florence Mary Wiltshire, widow, of the same address; and of C.P.O. Clarence Cheslyn Foreman, R.N., H.M.S. Berwick, and Annie Wong, 241, Nathan Road, Kowloon.

RECALTRANT SOLDIERS.

(Central Magistracy). Joseph Williams, William Weeks and Harry Grant, three privates of the South Wales Borderers were, this morning, charged thus:

(a) larceny of a bulb horn from Public Motor Car No. 558,
(b) wilfully and maliciously damaging Public Motor Car No. 558, and
(c) assaulting the driver, Tsan Hon-ming.

The offences took place at Stubbs Road on the night of October 26.

The defendants pleaded "guilty." After the facts of the case had been stated, the Magistrate asked if the accused had anything to say.

Williams said "There is nothing like enjoying yourself," and, Weeks admitted that he "liked plenty of excitement."

The men, it was said, had very bad records, and first defendant had served 84 days imprisonment for larceny in 1930.

On the first charge, first defendant was sent to jail for six weeks, and the other two defendants for one month.

On the second charge they were ordered to pay $25 each compensation or go to jail for a further 14 days.

On the third count $20 compensation or another 14 days.

ALL QUIET IN CYPRUS.

Rugby, Yesterday.

A telegram from the Governor of Cyprus reports that the situation is distinctly easier in the towns, and that shops are now open in Nicosia. It is expected the schools will open to-day.

The Bishop of Kyrenia was arrested yesterday morning, and a lawyer and two Communists have also been arrested.

The total casualties to civilians reported to date are two killed, two died of wounds, and 31 wounded. The number of police injured is 35.—British Wireless Service.

FEWER BRITONS IDLE.

Rugby, Yesterday.

The reduction recorded in recent weeks in the numbers of unemployed continues and the Ministry of Labour announces to-night that there are 28,869 less unemployed than in the previous week. The total on the registers of employment exchanges at October 19 was 2,737,000. An encouraging factor about the decrease is that it occurs at a time when figures usually rise owing to seasonal interruption in various trades.—British Wireless Service.

INTERNATIONAL REPARATIONS CONFERENCE?

Berlin, Yesterday.

It is learned from an authoritative source that the German Government is seriously considering the calling of an International Reparations Conference at an early date.—Router.

DISASTROUS FIRE IN YAUMATI.

Caused by Lighting
Joss Sticks.

DAMAGE NEARLY $50,000.

A disastrous fire broke out in Yaumati yesterday evening at 5.30. Four appliances attended under order from Officer A. I. Cash of Mongkok Fire Station, later being assisted by a contingent of men from the Central Fire Station.

The houses involved were Nos. 58, 60 and 62 Woosung Street. The conflagration broke out in the rear cubicle behind the stairs of the second floor of No. 60 and quickly spread to the partition on the second floor of No. 58. The third floors of these two houses were soon involved and by the time of the Brigade's arrival the fire was spreading in alarming proportions to adjoining buildings. From the verandahs flames were spouting to the roofs and a quantity of burning Chinese medicine wood filled the street with smoke, making approach difficult.

Within half an hour of their arrival the Brigade had the outbreak under control, but continued to play on the smouldering flames for a further three hours.

Investigation showed that the second and third floors of No. 60 and the staircase were completely gutted, while the corresponding floor of No. 58 were severely damaged. Adjoining verandahs were also scorched, and it is anticipated that the damage will amount to $15,000.

The cause of the fire was the lighting of joss sticks by a girl. When she saw the blaze she ran away. The second floor of No. 60 is a dwelling house occupied by Li Chau, a married woman, and the third floor by Lo Fung, also a married woman.

SZE YAP S.S. CO.

Leave to Appeal to Privy Council.

In connection with further litigation in the Appeal Court relative to a dispute with regard to the internal affairs of the Sze Yap S.S. Co., Ltd., their Lordships yesterday dismissed the motion of the respondents-defendants, made by Mr. F. C. Jenkin, K.C., to have the proceedings stayed on the ground that the appeal had been instituted without authority to use the Company's name and gave leave to Mr. H. G. Sheldon, for the appellants-plaintiffs to apply for leave to appeal to the Privy Council.

Mr. Sheldon addressed the Court in support of the petition, during the afternoon. He claimed that he had the right of appeal in that the appellants were the trustees of the capital of the Company, which amounted to $400,000. The petition under which he made the petition required that the civil right should be of value of $5,000. When the Court also construed that section, he would ask it to remember the inherent right of citizens to appeal to the Privy Council.

The Chief Justice reminded counsel that they could not base their judgment merely on the inherent right.

Mr. F. C. Jenkin opposed the motion on the grounds that the only claim made by his friend's clients was the claim to sit in the directors room of the Company and to direct its affairs. It was wholly immaterial as to what the capital of the Company was, or what the financial position of the company was, during any particular time.

And even if he had established the right of his clients to sit as Directors, which he denied, Mr. Sheldon had not produced evidence of any value amounting to $5,000. If he had produced evidence to show of the right, which he also denied, he had yet to establish what was that right.

After consideration the Court dismissed that motion of petition, and ordered that the costs regarding the two motions before the Court be borne by the respective parties.

This was agreed to by both Mr. Jenkin and Mr. Sheldon.

BOY KNOCKED DOWN BY LORRY.

The driver of motor lorry No. 2891, reported to the Police that yesterday in Shanghai Street he knocked down a Chinese boy, who had dashed across the road. The boy, Ho Ngau Chi, of No. 500, Shanghai Street, was removed to the Kowloon Hospital, suffering from severe head injuries. He is not expected to recover.

GOLD SHIPMENTS FROM INDIA.

Indians Releasing
Hoarded Stocks.

MAY HELP SILVER.

London, Yesterday. Commenting on shipments of gold to England from India, the Morning Post points out that they are not movements on Government's account, but actual sales by Indian owners of some of their hoarded stocks. India, apparently, is using her gold to buy silver, and, if the process went sufficiently far, it might help towards a readjustment of the relative prices of the two metals and provide a natural remedy for low price silver.—Reuter.

REV. E. A. ARMSTRONG.

The Rev. E. A. Armstrong, B.A., Assistant Chaplain at St. Andrew's Church, Kowloon, since October, 1929, left the Colony on the N.Y.K. liner Chichibu Maru this morning. He is going Home via South America, and expects to be in Belfast, Ireland, within six months. Many friends, including two Chinese troops of Boy Scouts, assembled at the wharf to bid Mr. Armstrong "bon voyage."

Until further notice, the Rev. N. V. Halward, M.C., M.A. (Diocesan Chaplain), by an agreement with the Church Council, will give a measure of help. He is preaching in St. Andrew's Church on Sunday evening, the preacher at the morning service being the Vicar.

DEATHS AND TRAGEDIES AT SEA.

Captain A. Hall, of the s.s. Halvard, reports that a Chinese deck passenger jumped overboard and was drowned during the voyage from Tourane, whilst a female passenger died on board from natural causes.

Captain J. J. Blankart, of the s.s. Tjisadane, from Muntho, reports that a quartermaster of the ship was missed during the voyage, and two Chinese deck passengers died.

LONG-DISTANCE NON-STOP FLIGHT.

Rugby, Yesterday. The Royal Air Force Fairy Napier long-distance monoplane, which left Cranwell early this morning on a non-stop flight of nearly 3,000 miles to Abu Sueir, Egypt, was reported over the Straits of Bonifacio at 6 this evening flying blind in thick clouds.—British Wireless Service.

THE FASTEST TRAIN.

Beats Its Own Record.

The G.W.R. express, the "Cheltenham Flyer," which on Monday (September 14) broke the world's record for the fastest start to stop run, on September 15 beat its own record by making the run between Swindon and Paddington—77½ miles—in 53½ minutes, an average speed of 79.23 miles an hour.

The run on Monday was accomplished in 59½ minutes, at an average speed of 77.89 m.p.h.

To-day's Thought.

It is just as important to have background as to have backbone.

Ten Years Ago.

[From the "China Mail" of October 28, 1921.]

To-day's dollar is worth 2/9 1/8.

Because they have a special responsibility for people held by them in duration, the authorities usually have an inquest when a prisoner dies to show that all was fair. Messrs. L. S. Rapley, I. F. de Souza and L. G. dos Remedios helped Coroner Orme to elicit the facts of Kwong Tai's death. Kwong Tai was a thief doing six months.

Dr. Valentine testified in frightfully technical words like choleraemia, cholangitis and choleystitis that Kwong had a liver like a bath sponge dipped in treacle, and the jury decided that it was no wonder that he died.

A HUNDRED YEARS OF SCIENTIFIC PROGRESS

"Scientific World Picture of To-day."

BY GENERAL SMUTS.

His Presidential Address to the British Association.

The older mechanistic conception of nature, the picture of nature as consisting of fixed material particles, mechanically interacting with each other—already rudely shaken by the relativity theory—is now being modified by the quantum physics. The attack on mechanism, thus coming from physical science itself, is therefore all the more deadly. Even in physics, organisation is becoming more important than the somewhat nebulous entities which enter into matter.

Interaction is more and more recognised to be not so much mechanical, as organic or holistic, the whole in some respects dominating not only the functioning but the very existence of the entities forming it. The emergence of this organic view of nature from the domain of physics itself is thus a matter of first-rate importance, and must have very far-reaching repercussions for our eventual world view.

The nature of the organic whole is, however, much more clearly recognised in its proper sphere of biology, and especially in the rapidly advancing science of physiology. Here too the correct view has been much obscured by the invasion of mechanistic ideas from the physics of the nineteenth century. A crude materialism all but swamped biology for more than a generation.

At the Belfast session of this Association in 1874, a famous predecessor of mine in this chair gave unrestrained expression to this materialistic creed. All that is passing, if not already past, it must be admitted that up to a point mechanism has been useful as a first approximation and fruitful as a convention of research purposes. But if even in physics it has lost its savour, a fortiori has it become out of place in biology.

The Space-Time Concept:
The partial truth of mechanism is always subtended by the deeper truth of organicity or holism. So far from biology being forced into a physical mould, the position in future will be reversed. Physics will look to biology and even to psychology for hints, clues and suggestions. In biology and psychology it will see principles at work in their full maturity which can only be faintly and fitfully recognised in physics. In this way the exchanges of physics, biology and psychology will become fruitful for the science of the future.

A living individual is a physiological whole, in which the parts or organs are but differentiations of this whole for purposes of greater efficiency, and remain in organic continuity throughout. They are parts of the individual, and not independent or self-contained units which compose the individual. It is only this conception of the individual as a dynamic organic whole which will make intelligible the extraordinary unity which characterizes the multiplicity of functions in an organism, the mobile, ever changing balance and interdependence of the numerous regulatory processes in it, as well as the operation of the mechanisms by which organic evolution is brought about.

This conception applies not only to individuals, but also to organic societies such as a beehive or an ants' nest, and even to social organisations on the human level.

As the concept of space-time destroys the purely spatial character of things, so the concept of the organic whole must also be extended beyond the organism so as to include its interaction with its environment. The stimuli and responses which render them mutually interdependent constitute them one whole which thus transcends the mere spatial limits of the organism. It is this overflow of organic wholes beyond their apparent spatial limits which binds all nature together and prevents it from being a mere assemblage of separate interacting units.

The World Of Mind.
It is time however we pass on to the world of mind. From matter, as now transformed by space-time and the quantum, we pass step by step through organic nature to conscious mind. Gone is the time when Descartes could divide the world into only two substances; extended substance or matter, and thinking substance or mind. There is a whole world of gradations between these two.

On Descartes' false dichotomy the separate provinces of modern science and philosophy were demarcated. But it is as dead as the epicycles of Ptolemy, and ultimately the Cartesian frontiers between physics and philosophy must largely disappear, and philosophy once more become metaphysics in the original sense. In the meantime, under its harmful influence, the paths of matter and mind, of science, and philosophy, were made to diverge, farther and farther, so that only the revolution now taking place in thought could bring them together again. I believe, however, their reunion is coming fast.

We have seen matter and life indefinitely approaching each other in the ultimate constituents of the world. We had seen that matter is fundamentally a configuration or organisation of space-time; and we have seen that life is a principle of organisation whereby the space-time patterns are arranged into organic unities.

The next step is to show that mind is an even more potent embodiment of the organising whole-making principle and that this embodiment has found expression in a rising series, which begins practically on the lowest levels of life, and rises ultimately to the conscious mind which alone Descartes had in view in his pacification. I have no time to follow up the matter here beyond making a few remarks.

Realm Of Values.
Mind is admittedly an active, creative, organising principle. It is for ever busy constructing new patterns of things, thoughts, or principles out of the material of its experience. Mind even more than light is a principle of whole-making. It differentiates, discriminates and selects from its vague experience, and fashions and correlates the resulting features into more or less stable, enduring wholes.

Beginning as mere blind tropisms, reflexes and conditioned reflexes, mind in organic nature has advanced step by step in its creative march until in man it has become nature's supreme organ of understanding, endeavour and control;—not merely a subjective human organ, but nature's own power of self-illumination and self-mastery; "the eye with which the universe beholds itself and knows itself divine."

The free creativeness of nature through mind is possible, because the creative process is concerned, not with the making of material stuff, but with patterns, with organisation, the evolution of which involves no absolute creation of an alien world of material from nothing. The purely structural character of reality thus helps to render possible and intelligible the free creativeness of life and mind, and accounts for the unlimited wealth of free patterns which mind freely creates on the basis of the existing physical patterns.

The highest reach of this creative process is seen in the realm of values, which is a product of the human mind. Great as is the physical universe which confronts us as a given fact, no less great is our reading and evaluation of it in the world of values, as seen in language, literature, culture, civilisation, society and the State, law, architecture, art, sciences, morals and religion.

An Immense Empty Shell.
Without this revaluation of inner meaning and significance, the external physical universe would be but an immense empty shell or crumpled surface. The brute fact here receives its meaning, and

The following statement was issued by the Japanese Government on Monday, October 26. It details those basic or "fundamental principles" to which Mr. Yoshizawa referred in the course of his speech at the League Council's meeting.

1. On October 22 the Japanese representative in the Council of the League of Nations proposed certain amendments to a resolution then before the Council with regard to two questions of, (1) withdrawal of Japanese troops to the railway zone, and (2) direct negotiations between China and Japan. However, these suggested amendments, as well as the resolution itself fell through, having failed to obtain the unanimous approval of the Council.

2. As has been repeatedly emphasised by the Japanese Government, the whole Manchurian affair was occasioned solely by the violent and provocative attack launched by the Chinese army on the railway zone. Certain small contingents of Japanese soldiers, still remaining at a few points outside that zone, are insistently demanded by the danger to which a large population of Japanese in that region are exposed in life and property. The presence of such a limited number of troops is quite incapable of being represented as a means of dictating to China Japan's terms for a settlement of the present difficulties.

3. The Japanese Government have, on various occasions, given expression to their firm determination to suffer no abridgment, or diminution, of the rights and interests of Japan which are vital to her national existence, and which are woven into the complex fabric of her political and economic relations with China. Unfortunately, the so-called "recovery of rights" movements, in China have recently attained extravagant developments, while feelings antagonistic to Japan have been openly encouraged in text books used at various schools in China, and have become deeply seated in the Chinese mind. In defiance of treaties and regardless of all history, vigorous agitation has been carried on in China with the object of undermining the rights and interests of Japan, even the most vital. As things stand at present, complete withdrawal of Japanese troops to the South Manchuria Railway zone, under the mere assurance of the Chinese Government, would create an intolerable situation, exposing Japanese subjects to the gravest of dangers. The risk of such dangers is clearly evidenced by past experience, and by the conditions which actually obtained in China.

4. The Japanese Government are persuaded that in the present situation the safety of Japanese subjects in Manchuria can hardly be ensured without an effort being made to remove national antipathies and suspicions existing in the mutual relations of the two Powers. With this end in view they have already expressed, in the note of the Minister of Foreign Affairs, dated October 9 to the Chinese Minister at Tokyo, their readiness to enter into negotiations with the Chinese Government on certain basic principles that should regulate the normal inter-relationship between two countries. That note was communicated at the time to the Council of the League. Convinced that this method of procedure is alone calculated to open out a way to save the situation the Japanese Government have consistently held to their proposals in that sense throughout the recent discussions at the Council meeting of the League. The basic principles which they have had in mind relate to:

- (1) mutual repudiation of aggressive policy and conduct,
- (2) respect for China's territorial integrity,
- (3) complete suppression of all organized movements interfering with freedom of trade and stirring up international hatred,
- (4) effective protection throughout Manchuria of all peaceful pursuits undertaken by Japanese subjects,
- (5) respect for the treaty rights of Japan in Manchuria.

The Japanese Government believe that all these points, being in entire accord with the aims and aspirations of the League of Nations and embodying the natural basis upon which peace in the Far East must depend, will commend themselves to the approval of the public opinion of the world. The refusal by the Japanese representative to lay these points on the table of the Council was due to the consideration that they should, in their nature, properly form the subject of negotiations between the parties directly involved.

5. With the future welfare of both nations in mind the Japanese Government feel that the urgent need, at the present moment, is to arrive at a solution of the problem by the co-operation of the two countries and thus seek for a path of common happiness and prosperity. Their willingness remains unaltered and unabated to open negotiations with the Chinese Government on the subject of the basic principles above formulated relating to the normal relations between Japan and China, and on the subject of the withdrawal of Japanese troops to the South Manchuria Railway zone.

new world arises which gives to nature whatever significance it has. As against physical configurations of nature we see here the ideal patterns or wholes freely created by the human spirit as a home and an environment for itself.

Among the human values thus created science ranks with art and religion. In its selfless pursuit of truth, in its vision of order and beauty it partakes of the quality of both. More and more it is beginning to make a profound aesthetic and religious appeal to thinking people. Indeed it may fairly be said that science is perhaps the clearest revelation of God to our age. Science is at last coming into its own as one of the supreme goods of the human race.

Before I complete my picture of the world of science I wish for a moment to go beyond science. I have so far dealt with certain concepts of science: the quantum and space-time on the physical level, and roughly corresponding thereto, life and organic evolution on the biological level. Is there a similar and corresponding pair of concepts on the human level? I would suggest mind, and the maturation of human personality, by which I mean the unique conscious whole constituted for each of us by our psycho-physical make-up.

Our personality craves for certain goods, for self-expression, for freedom, knowledge and the like. It craves for inner wholeness and value—to be integrated and harmonised into wholeness through the attainment of order and beauty in the universe. Just as organic advance is through the individual organism in the biological world, so spiritual advance is only possible through personal attainment.

CHINESE ART.

Bronze, Porcelain and Paintings.

China's art and civilisation rank with the oldest in the world. The Egyptians and Sumerians reached a higher standard earlier than the Chinese, but they passed away, while the Chinese still survive, and their output of beautiful things continued through the centuries.

At present their art is still suffering from the decadence which set in at the end of the reign of Ch'ien Lung (O.D. 1735-1795), but given peace a renaissance might easily come about. We have no museum of Chinese art in Hong Kong, and most people are unable to see and study for themselves authentic and good specimens of the varying type which have been produced during a period of at least three thousand years. It is now due to the generosity of many private collectors in Hong Kong that examples of these things are being exhibited at the China Exhibition to be held in the City Hall on November 5, 6, and 7.

The earliest art which the Chinese excelled was that of moulding and chiselling bronze. Sacrificial vessels, bells, weapons and mirrors were among the objects produced. Various bronze objects, showing great skill and beauty have survived from the Shang Dynasty B.C. 1706-1122. These ancient bronze have an additional interest in that they often have archaic inscriptions on them which throw light on the early writing and history of China.

Probably it is in the realm of Ceramics that Chinese art has made its greatest appeal to Europeans. Chinese porcelain has been highly prized since it was first introduced to the West and many of the first pieces received there were mounted with gold or silver. It was eagerly sought after by kings and princes. Charles VII of France asked the Sultan of Egypt to send him examples. Queen Elizabeth received from Lord Burlington on New Year's Day 1588 a "porringer of white porcelain garnished with gold and from Robert Cecil 'a coupe of green porcelaine'."

The earliest ceramic wares of China were merely pottery vessels which have no interest other than an antiquarian one. It is not until we arrive at the Han Dynasty (B.C. 206-A.D. 221) that any considerable development takes place. It is claimed that porcelain was first invented during that period. It is of course the use of porcelain which gives the ceramic ware of China a unique position in the art of the world. Some of the most beautiful wares were made during the Sung Period (A.D. 960-1230). They are noted for their thick, high-fired glaze in rich and delicate monochromes, though some, notably the Chun Yao, are splashed or flamed. During the Ming period (A.D. 1368-1644) the art developed still further by the introduction of painted designs in blue and at the end of the period, by the use of coloured enamels. In the succeeding Dynasty during the reigns of K'ang Hsi, Yung Cheng and Ch'ien Lung the climax of Chinese porcelain was reached and the pieces decorated in vivid blue or glowing enamels have never been surpassed. Europeans mostly prize those of the early Ching reigns though they are beginning to appreciate the simpler Sung so long valued by native collectors.

The Chinese themselves have a great veneration for the art of painting. Their greatest painters and poets too, lived during the Tang and Sung periods, though earlier paintings survive notably one by Ku K'ai Chih who was born about A.D. 344 and this shows that at that time a very high standard had been reached. In judging Chinese pictures Europeans must put aside all their preconceived notions of art and perspective. The Chinese artists have great love of Nature and this is largely to be seen in their landscapes. "It was not the plastic, the purely visual, side of landscape which inspired these painters, but rather the mood, the spiritual content of the scene."

SHORT RUN.

"A Trip To Scarborough" Withdrawn.

London, September 22.
Sir Barry Jackson's revival of the Vanbrugh-Sheridan comedy "A Trip To Scarborough" at the St.
James's, has proved a failure, as I rather feared it would.

Presented on Monday of last week, it was swiftly and silently withdrawn on Saturday, after a run of only six days.

When I saw the production at Malvern in August I wrote in The Daily Telegraph that, if played on a sufficiently high and consistent note of artificiality (which it was not) it might possibly "get across,"

but that I doubted it, because there is really nothing much in the play.

On the other hand, Bulwer Lytton's "Money," which was revived at Malvern the following night, proved supremely delightful.

After the performance I implored
Sir Barry to put it on at the St.
James's instead of the other.

But, perhaps unfortunately for themselves, impresarios do not often take advice from dramatic critics. All Sir Barry would concede was that he might stage
"Money" in London as well.

I understand that its presentation at the St. James's as successor to "A Trip to Scarborough" has now been discussed, but that the idea was abandoned because Sir Barry is off to Canada at the end of this week, and would not be able to see the production, before his departure.

It is a pity, because all the chief members of the cast of "Money" have been appearing in "Trip to Scarborough" and are available.
But the theatre, it appears, will remain "dark" for the present.—
London Daily Telegraph.

D'ALBERT'S OPERAS.

Eugene D'Albert has recently completed his twenty-first opera.
It is on the subject of "Mr. Wu," and will probably be produced in Berlin during the coming Winter.
D'Albert's "Tiefland" and Smetana's delightful "The Bartered Bride," which is now being given at Covent Garden, were both introduced to Britain 25 years ago. Although both operas were immen-sely popular on the Continent, they failed to appeal to British audiences.

To-day "Tiefland" seems to have disappeared even from the Continental repertory, but there seems no reason to suppose that Smetana's charming work will not take a permanent place in London.

FILM STAR IN VARIETY.

Jeanette Macdonald At Dominion.

London, September 22.
Not since Maurice Chevalier appeared at the Dominion last year has it been used as a variety house.
But now, with another star of the film world, Jeanette Macdonald, as the chief attraction, that huge theatre is again—temporarily, at any rate—given over to a variety entertainment, on the two-shows-a-night system.

An enormous audience came to the first house last evening, evidently thrilled at the prospect of seeing Miss Macdonald in the flesh.

And what a reception they gave her when, after a fleeting appearance on a balcony—a Juliet with what looked rather like a "principal boy" Romeo at her feet—
she stepped down to the centre of the stage, in an apple-green spangled dress, to sing her first number from "The Love Parade."

Supported in one or two of the items by a chorus of Paramount and Carlton Tiller girls in more or less dazzling costumes, Miss Macdonald, a pretty blonde with a very engaging smile, contributed songs also from "Monte Carlo" and other films, and a rather feeble little French song in addition.

Her voice has nothing that could be called striking about it. But it is clear, true, and pleasant—though somewhat "white" in quality—and she wisely never made the mistake of trying to force it to what she might have thought to be the requirements of such a vast auditorium, or of stressing the sentimental songs in her repertory.

Refreshingly Unaffected.

She avoided, too, anything like extravagance of gesture. Indeed, her manner was refreshingly unaffected. But I must confess to having caught very few of the words of her songs, either English or French.

The popular "March of the Grenadiers"—with a chorus of very oddly-uniformed Grenadiers—from
"The Love Parade" made a spirited concluding number. Thereafter Miss Macdonald had to take several curtain calls, and at last, yielding to the audience's fervent insistence on a speech, said a few words of thanks with a very pronounced (but not aggressive) American accent.

There are in all thirteen items in the Dominion programme, but this should not spell ill-luck to what is really a very good, well-varied show. It includes, notably, the two most accomplished—and

"DIE FLEDERMAUS" IN ENGLAND

Percy Fleming As The Governor.

London, September 22.
No opera produced by the Covent Garden syndicate has been more popular than "Die Fledermaus," either in German or in English, at Covent Garden or on tour.

In the provinces—where, of course, it was played in English—it was particularly well cast, and its gay tunes and frolicsome story pleased the public in many large towns. It was the one certain winner in the travelling repertory.

I did not find the company which appeared at the Royal Opera House last night quite up to the provincial standard of last year, though the personnel was largely the same. As the governor of the prison, Mr.
Percy Fleming, has a comic part after his own heart; in each of his scenes he is unfailing, and the funny business with the newspaper in the last act goes well.

In the part of Eisenstein there ought to be an excellent foil, but Mr. Ben Williams has not yet acquired the right sort of ease, of savoir faire, to play the light-hearted intriguer, though he sings very well. On the other hand the small but conspicuous part of Frusch in Act III, was over-acted and somewhat upset the balance of the comedy. Add to these defects a chorus that wanted marshalling, and the virtues of the show as a whole are a little clouded.

Miss Norah Gruhn in her sprightly part of Adele shows increasing assurance, and Miss Gladys Parr as the Prince Orlofsky repeats a study that has character. Miss Marjorie Parry might have smiled
a little more in the part of Rosalinda, but made up for her reticence in that sense by singing sweetly.
As the gregarious singing lover Mr.
Parry Jones has a part he makes distinctly amusing.

Mr. Barbirolli conducted an orchestra that was not always beyond reproach in the matter of rhythm, and Miss Mimi Crawford danced to
"The Blue Danube" in Act II.—

amusing—sea lions (C. Olsen's) I have ever seen. Their exploits are nothing short of marvellous. Fun in plenty is provided by, among others, the O'Gorman Brothers, Val and Ernie Stanton, and Jack Edge, while an effective feature in its way is the performance of (mostly) Hungarian gipsy music by Eugene's Magyar Tzigane band, whose playing is strenuous without being noisy.

Teething Troubles Now a Thing of the Past!

No more nights of pain and loss of valuable sleep for baby. No more distressing and wakeful nights for parents!
None of these troubles in the homes where Baby's Own Tablets are used!

Baby's teething troubles belong to a past age. Modern science has provided an efficient answer to this great need in this splendid baby's medicine.
Teething troubles are usually the effects of digestive derangement. It is worse than useless to resort to the so-called soothing medicines, which by their drug action bring only temporary relief—besides being harmful and sometimes positively dangerous.

M. LAVAL HOMEWARD BOUND.

France Gains More Than America.

EVENING POST COMMENT.

New York, Yesterday.
M. Laval sailed on the Ile De France for France this evening. The liner was held up several hours to allow M. Laval's daughter, Josette, to attend a party given in her honour.

There is scant comment in the evening newspaper on the conclusion of the Laval-Hoover "talks," although the Evening Post is of the opinion that France will receive more of the gains therefrom than America.—Reuter.

FORCED DOWN.

Hamilton Brothers' Bad Luck.

NOT INJURED.

Vienna, Yesterday.
The airmen, the Hamilton brothers, have been forced to land at Tulln, Lower Austria.

They are injured and resume their flight to-morrow.—Reuter.

[The Hamilton brothers set out from England on Monday, just after midnight, on a flight to Australia, in an attempt to break the existing air record. Incidentally they also hoped to establish a record for a flight from England to India. They expected to reach Karachi, India, in 3 days, and Port Darwin, Australia, in 7 days; and after 24 hours' rest start upon a return flight. The machine they are using is the one in which Captain Barnard flew to Malta and back in one day last year.]

KOWLOON SLANDER CASE.

Judgment for Plaintiff.

$100 DAMAGES.

Judgment for plaintiff, with $100 damages and costs, was given by Mr. Justice R. E. Lind-sell in the Summary Court this morning, in the action for slander uttered in Middle Road, Kowloon, by Miss Gertrude Staveley, of the Airline Hotel, Nathan Road, Kowloon, on August 16. The plaintiff in the action was Mrs. Rose Irene Remedios, of 5, Julia Avenue, Homuntin, who claimed $1,000 as damages.

Judgment.

In giving his decision, his Lordship said that it was quite clear to him that the defendant was, as she obviously is now, a thoroughly unbalanced woman. At the time of the occurrence she was upset by the passing close to her of two motor cycles, one behind the other, and in what was said there was no intent to blacken the plaintiff's character, but he was satisfied that there was knowledge on the part of defendant that plaintiff was a woman and defendant believed at the moment that the plaintiff was a prostitute. Abuse in such terms and actuated by such a belief, his Lordship said, was actionable. He could not read into the defendant's letter of August 18 any real desire to apologise. In view of the circumstances under which the slander was originally uttered, however, he did not think the case was one for heavy damages. He was quite satisfied that the plaintiff was a lady of irreproachable character. Judgment would be entered for plaintiff for $100 damages and costs.

Mr. M. K. Lo was for the plaintiff, whilst the defendant was represented by Mr. F. C. E. Rendall.

no licence. The P.M.G.'s Department had gone to the length of offering a $10 reward for information leading to convictions in these cases.

STERLING'S SHARP SET-BACK.

British Government and Window-Dressing.

HEAVY SALES.

New York, Yesterday.
Sterling rate on Exchange fell to 3.87 as the result of heavy selling. Banking circles believe the selling was due to the British Government liquidating large accounts, which, supposedly, were acquired by the Government to strengthen its position before the opening of the polls.

—Reuter.
[It will be recalled that keen satisfaction was expressed in London last week at the news that the Bank of England had repaid £20,000,000 of the ninety-day credit for £25,000,000 obtained from the Federal Reserve Bank on August 1, 1931. The period of credit did not expire till this week, and it was believed, New York banking circles had expected the credit would have to be renewed.]

City (London) comment was highly favourable, and it was suggested that this indication of the strength of the British financial position would have a steadying influence and promote the revival of general confidence.

New York, at the time, was reported to be gratified at the unexpected repayment.]
